UK : European bourses dip on Spain, Catalonia

European shares dipped yesterday despite a new set of record highs overnight on Wall Street, with Spanish and banking stocks suffering from the on-going Catalonia crisis, while Germany's DAX was catching up after a bank holiday, boosted by strong auto stocks. The pan-European STOXX 600 index was down 0.1% by 0735 GMT while Spain's IBEX fell 0.9% as banking stocks, the most sensitive to political risks, tumbled. Catalonia-headquartered Banco Sabadell led the IBEX lower, down 2%, closely followed by Bankia, Bankinter, Santander and BBVA. Spanish banks weighed on the euro zone banking index down 1.2% and set for its worst fall in two weeks with all stocks in the red. King Felipe VI accused secessionist leaders of shattering democratic principles in a rare televised speech which, in itself, is a sign of the seriousness of the crisis, analysts said. Energy stocks, down 0.4%, also weighed as crude prices slipped. (Reuters)

CAMBODIA : ADB offers $70M loan to improve transportation

The Asian Development Bank (ADB) has approved a $70 million loan to develop the Kingdom's transportation infrastructure with the majority of the funding going towards improvements of national roads in Prey Veng, Siem Reap and Svay Rieng provinces. The loan is part of the ADB-backed Greater Mekong Subregion Southern Economic Corridor programme aiming to link Ho Chi Minh City, Phnom Penh and Bangkok through infrastructure development to enhance the efficiency of cross-border trade, according to a press release. A focus will be on improving 147 kilometres of unsafe and flood-prone sections of national roads, while providing all-weather connectivity and climate resilience. "In Cambodia, roads are the dominant mode of transport, making road transport critical to the country's social and economic development. However, the road subsector in Cambodia remains inefficient and fragmented," Oyunchimeg Erdene, a senior transport specialist at the ADB, said in the

CAMBODIA : Ticket revenue jumps at Angkor temple park

Revenue from foreign ticket sales at Angkor Wat topped $75.7 million during the first nine months of 2017, a 70% increase compared with the same period one year earlier, according to a release by state-run Angkor Enterprise. While most of the overall increase in revenue was the result of higher foreigner ticket prices that went into effect in February, the temple complex also saw a 12% increase in tourist traffic during the nine-month period, receiving 1.75 million foreign visitors between January and September. CAMBODIA : National bank confirms riel requirements for loans

The National Bank of Cambodia (NBC), the country’s central banking authority, confirmed yesterday that it will make no changes to recently-issued requirements pertaining to the proportion of loans in the local currency that banking institutions need to exhibit in their loan portfolios. NBC’s Director General Chea Serey, speaking during a meeting with representatives of the banking industry yesterday, said the banking authority will enforce the requirements as originally conceived, without any delays or substantial changes. Last December, the NBC released a prakas, or directive, instructing commercial banks and microfinance institutions (MFIs) to issue a greater percentage of their loans in the local currency, a regulation that aims to promote the use of the riel, Cambodia’s national currency. According to the directive, all financial institutions must have at least 10% of their loan portfolio in riel. The prakas will come into effect at the end of 2019. (Khmer Times)

CAMBODIA : Taiwanese banks eye Cambodian market

Taiwan Cooperative Bank, Chang Hwa Commercial Bank and First Commercial Bank, all Taiwan-based banking institutions, will soon open new branches in the kingdom. The announcement follows a string of positive reports about the investment climate in the local banking industry, particularly as it pertains to banking houses from the island nation. According to a report from Taiwan Business TOPICS magazine, Taiwanese banks earned $13.16 million in Cambodia during the first quarter of the year. According to Taiwan Business TOPICS, a magazine published monthly by the American Chamber of Commerce in Taipei, Taiwanese banks are now targeting Southeast Asia for expansion. Banking houses from Taiwan are now present in every Asean nation. “Government officials say that the New Southbound Policy is bearing fruit for the financial sector,” the report said. (Khmer Times)

CAMBODIA : Date for Sea Festival agreed

The sixth Sea Festival will take place in Kep province from December 22 to 24, according to a government statement issued this week. The event, which will be officially inaugurated by Prime Minister on December 23, welcomes local and international tourists to the scenic province of Kep to celebrate the beauty of Cambodia’s coastline. The date was agreed during a meeting last week between Thong Khon, the Minister of Tourism, and Ken Satha, the governor of Kep province. “The departments involved and the different stakeholders need to cooperate to organise tourism sites, improve the beauty of the streets and public spaces. “The tourism community needs to make all necessary preparations to ensure the success of the event,” Mr Khon said. “We should make the festival a model for hygiene and quality standards in the country,” he added. Ho Vandy, the secretary-general of the Cambodia National Tourism Alliance, urged provincial authorities to take care of the safety tourists. (Khmer Times)

CHINA : Chinese bemoan the bitcoin crackdown

Beijing’s decision to shut down bitcoin trading platforms has left investors scrambling to cut their losses and threatens to deprive the crypto-currency of a crucial market. “The authorities don’t understand anything about bitcoin!” fumed Zhang Yanhua, founder of an investment fund that was dead on arrival after Beijing started tightening the screws at the start of the month. In mid-September the central bank, the People’s Bank of China, told virtual currency trading platforms based in Beijing and Shanghai to cease market operations. The bank has
