term outlook remained positive as more people are inoculated and life returns to normal, frighteningly high new case numbers and deaths around the world — and the resulting lockdowns — kept a cap on buying. Germany's BioNTech provided some good news because it said it expected to produce 2 billion doses of its vaccine this year, up from the previous forecast of 1.3 billion, lifting hopes that more people could get the jab earlier. That came as seven mass vaccination sites were opened across England, where a new strain of the disease is putting huge pressure on the country's National Health Service and forced leaders to ramp up economically painful containment measures. The main focus of attention for traders is Washington, where Democrats are pushing ahead with a historic second impeachment of Donald Trump as they accuse him of inciting last Wednesday's storming of the Capitol Building that delayed lawmakers' certification of Joe Biden's election win. Cambodia featured heavily in China's newly released "International Development and Cooperation in the New Era" document In its lengthiest White Paper on foreign investments, the Chinese State Council Information Office document outlined investments made in key sectors of Cambodia's economy, most notably in road and air transportation, energy, agricultural and healthcare. CAMBODIA: NBC governor wins award

National Bank of Cambodia (NBC) governor Chea Chanto won Central Banker of the Year, Asia-Pacific award from premier financial magazine The Banker for his leadership in successfully navigating through a stormy 2020 during the Covid-19 crisis. The periodical, owned by Londonbased Financial Times Group, said the Kingdom managed the health crisis created by the coronavirus well, with fewer than 400 cases confirmed and zero deaths recorded to date. The Banker said: "Despite these conditions, Cambodia is forecast to see [minus] 1.9 per cent growth in gross domestic product [GDP] during 2020 ... remarkable considering the hardships the country has faced. "Following the impact Covid-19 and flooding have had on businesses, the central bank stepped up to help out companies experiencing financial hardship. "The NBC informed the Association of Banks in Cambodia and the Cambodia Microfinance Association [CMA] that loan restructuring measures introduced in March 2020 will continue until the end of June 2021. "Restructuring is permitted up to three times without any impact to the loan classification during the extension period. Further provisions include the reduction of interest rates and waiving fees. The measures taken mean the country's rate of non-performing loans has remained low at around 2.5 per cent." According to the CMA, as of the end of November, more than 290,000 clients affected by Covid-19 had applied for credit restructuring from the association's 103 member microfinance institutions (MFIs). More than 270,000 of these clients have been approved by their MFI to restructure loans collectively totalling more than $1.3 billion. (Phnom Penh Post)

KOREA: South Korea to inject $27.35B into green energy exports

Seeking to boost a green-led economic recovery in the post-pandemic era, South Korea's government vowed on January 13 to spend 30 trillion won ($27.35 billion) to support local exports of renewable energy and other clean technologies. Deputy Prime Minister and finance minister Hong Nam-ki told a meeting of economy-related ministers: "South Korea should take a lead in the global market for green and digital businesses by embracing the ongoing paradigm shift to a green and digital economy triggered by the Covid-19 pandemic. "[The government] will make all-out efforts to help renewable energy companies expand their overseas contracts of green energy products to 30GW from the current 15GW. To do so, the authorities are planning to operate export financing programme worth 30 trillion won in phases over the next five years." In addition, Hong pledged to launch a series of state-run export insurance programmes targeting domestic renewable energy providers, while reducing the length of time taken by the finance ministry's in its evaluation process. The ministry hopes that expediting

| the evaluations, which assess the feasibility of local companies' new overseas projects, will speed up their business activities in the global market. The envisioned plans were designed to promote the Moon Jae-in administration's "Korean New Deal" initiative, centred on two pillars – the Green New Deal and Digital New Deal – which aims to promote green growth initiatives as well as digital transformation across industries.
